Call for Papers:

The Organizing Committee of TLHE 2011 in Singapore is now calling for participation in three categories:

- (a) individual 30-minute papers (including Q&A);
- (b) Poster sessions; and
- (c) Student panels*

* The student panels are intended to serve as a platform for student groups to share and discuss their experiences in higher education and to help other participants to better understand the challenges faced by Gen Y learners and their learning needs. Students are encouraged to form their own groups, propose a topic, and submit an abstract in the format given below. Student groups, whose proposals are selected, will have access to facilitators who can help them prepare for their sessions and facilitate their sessions at the conference. Individual students may also submit proposals: If they are selected, the organizers will help them to form groups and identify a suitable group topic.

All interested participants are invited to submit an abstract (max. 500 words)
